

Graduate Diploma in Not-for-Profit Management

Are you a manager, committed staff member or on the board of a not-for-profit organisation? Do you want some professional development tailored to the NFP sector? This Diploma is for you! Unitec's Graduate Diploma in Not-for-Profit Management is a part-time programme designed with busy people in mind. It consists of eight papers:

- values-based management and leadership
- governance
- financial management
- leading and facilitating teams
- influencing public policy
- funding
- managing staff and volunteers
- leading change

SPECIAL OFFER!
Enrol before April
2012 for the
Wellington values paper and receive a Unitec scholarship
for 50% of the fees

Courses are six days long, run in two blocks of three days, and are offered in the main centres, including Wellington. You can complete the diploma over several years. Scholarships from other funders are also available.

Find out more or email Hilary Star Foged (hstarfoged@unitec.ac.nz)

Meet some students:

“New to the sector, the diploma has helped me understand myself and my strengths as a leader in the world of the voluntary sector. I appreciate being able to discuss in class and work on real papers and plans for my own organisation and submit them as part of our assessment. The network and support is a great way to learn and thrive with the diverse range of people who are with you on your learning and career journey.”

Vanisa Dhiru

Executive Director, Volunteering New Zealand

President, YWCA of Greater Wellington

“Studying on Unitec’s NFP Management Diploma programme has given me a new awareness and understanding of many of the unique issues and opportunities we face in the not-for-profit sector. I particularly enjoy that much of the work takes place in small groups where you are given the chance to genuinely focus on, discuss and learn from others’ experiences of similar challenges (and similar triumphs) that are distinct to our sector.”

Matt Dagger

Fundraiser, Wellington City Mission

“I have been working for and leading community organisations in the not-for-profit sector for almost ten years in NZ and worked for UNHCR and other NGOs in Africa before that. I wish I had been able to do these courses way back. It’s a unique diploma that shapes your knowledge, understanding and experience in the sector. The courses are very practical. I recommend anyone in a position of governance, management or leadership in not-for-profit organisations to enrol. It’s worth more than gold! “

Adam Awad

Founder and Chair of ChangeMakers Refugee Forum

“I have worked in the not-for-profit sector for the past 12 years and recently made the career change from communications to a management role. Studying for this diploma has helped increase my knowledge and skill base, and the part-time delivery fits in well with the demands of two primary school aged children.”

Shani Naylor

Executive Director, Allied Health Professional Associations’ Forum

“Although I am currently not in a managing position, the issues covered in the course are still relevant and the tools provided are very helpful. The course gave me a deeper understanding of the not-for-profit sector and of my organisation and its place in the sector. I now see myself as a leader with new eyes. I am amazed by the skills, experience, and passion of the other people on the course, and working in groups with them makes the course interesting and challenging (in a good way).”

Jula Goebel

External Relationship Advisor, Funding Information Service

